

DRINK IN THE VIEWS

In the land of the gaucho, where the Andes tower over pampas plains, some of the New World's best wines are made. Phil Crozier is seduced by Mendoza

Photography David Loftus

...“The biggest pleasure I have when going to Argentina is working with the people.

In 2007 we bought a historic vineyard in the district of Lunlunta, with the aim of making our own wine. This beautiful old vineyard is next door to one of the great personalities of Mendoza – Roberto de la Mota, another malbec pioneer. He owns a lovely little winery called Mendel, which has since become one of Argentina's benchmark quality wineries.”...